BIO SPEAKER:

Johan earned his moniker of "Mr. FoodTech" after having introduced the concept of food system transformation through tech, data and innovation in Sweden and the Nordics some 15+ years ago.

He acts as a strategic advisor and guide regarding food sector transformation. He helps startups nail their concepts and guide large corps, cities and regions to find value through food. He's obsessed with the fact that food has a greater value outside the plate than on it - through the effects of food. This fact has also led him to focus extensively on new solutions for biodiversity.
